Carol Sends Troops To Hungary Border

RUMANIA FEARS ANOTHER MOVE TO GRAB LAND

War Clouds Darken Over Balkans as Russians Move Into Bessarabia.

By The Associated Press

War clouds blackened over southeastern Europe today.

King Carol II's little Balkan kingdom of Rumania, after yielding to a stiff Russian ultimatum, rushed most of its 2,000,000 troops to the Hungarian frontier.

Hungary and Bulgaria called up reserves.

Turkey sent her fleet into the Black sea, stripped for action and ready to defend the Dardanelles against any attack.

In Bucharest, German legation officials charged that the Soviet move into Rumania was a trick "inspired by Britain" to create a new war front.

Germans See Trap

Germany is avoiding any such trap, they said, and is concentrating on the main task ahead—the assault on Britain herself.

The situation was becoming hourly more grave, threatening to explode the famous Balkan "powderkeg" in a clash of bitter and age-old racial hatreds.

Bulgarian regulars were sped by train from the Turkish frontier to the Rumanian border.

Official quarters in Bucharest said they were informed that Hitler had sent a telegram to Josef Stalin asking the Soviet dictator to "meet Rumania half way."

Cannons To Answer

By contrast, there was no tempering of the Nazi fuehrer's ambitions in the war with Britain. Authorized sources in Berlin stated bluntly that Germany's reply to any peace feelers from London is this:

"Cannons are speaking!"

The British have already denied any peace overtures.

Russian troops, heavily reinforced by tanks and planes, poured across the Rumanian frontier shortly after dawn—swiftly following up the Russian ultimatum to Rumania which expired at 10 p. m. (3 p. m., Marion time) yesterday — and occupied four cities in the ceded provinces of Bessarabia and Bucovina.

It was not immediately known whether King Carol appealed to Hitler for actual military held to combat the Soviet invasion or merely asked the German fuehrer to intercede diplomatically for moderation of Russia's stiff demands.

The king had yielded "in principle" to the Soviet ultimatum two hours before its expiration, but had pleaded for time to negotiate.

While world attention shifted to the Balkans, the major European

'Match Sticks and Chewing Gum,' Win in Campaign Unique in U. S. History

FOR VICE PRESIDENT

CHARLES L. McNARY

Mr. McNary, senator from Oregon, was chosen today as Presidential Nominee Willkie's running mate.

Drive Slow To Start, But Zoomed Into Sweeping Victory.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 28 — Wendell Willkie has emerged with the Republican presidential nomination from a campaign built, in the words of one of his own close supporters, of "match sticks and chewing gum."

It was a campaign unique in American political history, one which had no beginning that you could put your finger on yet in the late pre-convention days swept the country with amazing power.

The scattered, hit-or-miss tactics of his supporters finally evolved into a regular pattern, but skepticism of hard-handed political regulars wasn't eliminated until he actually translated this public appeal into votes of delegates.

New York, of course, was the focal point for Willkie's campaign organization, but the Empire state's delegation to the convention played little if any part in his early reckonings. Most of the delegation was pledged to Thomas E. Dewey, and Willkie knew that an entanglement with Dewey's powerful organization would work untold harm to his efforts.

Shied from Dewey States

He even refrained from public appearance in the states described as "Dewey states."

Last spring, Willkie, busy with the affairs of Commonwealth & Southern corporation, pictured himself only as a dark horse contender for the nomination. Russell Davenport, then managing editor of the magazine Fortune, but now affiliated with Willkie, sought an article which would outline his beliefs. It was published in the April issue.

"The response," says Davenport, a nervous, quick-thinking, phrase-making sort of man, "was a deluge of requests for reprints. It got out of hand."

It was Davenport who pinned the "match sticks and chewing gum" designation on the entire effort for Willkie. Davenport found his job at Fortune handicapped him. The magazine is non-

TO ASK BOOST IN ARMY FUNDS

Capital Hears Five Billion Dollar Defense Request May Be More Than Doubled.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 28 — President Roosevelt indicated today that increased appropriations would be sought for the army, but offered no suggestions on the amount.

He intimated that the added funds would be used to place large orders for defense equipment.

Asked at a press conference whether it had been brought to his attention that the army was drafting a program involving new and large amounts, the Chief Executive asserted that probably the best way to put it was like this:

When new production facilities are created, it is cheaper in the long run to give a sufficiently large order to keep them going at least for a while.

It had been reported previously that President Roosevelt intended to seek an immense boost in the defense program that would more than double the $5,082,310,080 already appropriated and shatter the arms bill of the peak World war year.

Usually well-informed sources said last night that the huge request would be exclusively for army purposes, and that it might be ready for submission when congress returns next week from its recess.

The exact amount of the forthcoming request was not disclosed by these sources, but they did say that if the funds were voted the nation's arms expenditures for the coming fiscal year would surpass that all-time record outlay of $11,011,387,000 for the 12 months beginning July 1, 1918.

Wants Funds At Once

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, will ask congress to make the additional billions available without delay so that the army can place more orders at once for planes, tanks and other weapons. The projected recommendation also was reported to include provisions for financing expansion of aircraft production and munitions factories construction.

Before the likelihood of a further defense increase was mentioned, President Roosevelt authorized late yesterday the seizure of foreign vessels in American waters if such action was necessary either to protect this nation's interests or the safety of the ships themselves.

NAZIS BLAME RED MOVE ON BRITISH TRICK

Say Germans Carefully Avoid Trap To Weaken Efforts in West.

By The Associated Press

BUCHAREST, June 28—Soviet Russia's swift, bloodless acquisition of a huge expanse of Rumanian territory was labeled by German legation officials today as a British trick to make Germany fight on a new warfront in the Balkans.

But, they declared, Germany is carefully staying out of any such trap.

They declared frankly that German diplomats had advised Carol to meet Moscow's demands but had told him that relinquishing of the territory was only "a temporary adjustment," and that Germany "definitely will settle things later."

There was every indication that the Soviet ultimatum and advance into Bessarabia and Bucovina took the Germans completely by surprise.

Wealthy German landowners and German experts employed in the territory now being occupied by the Red army fled to Bucharest late last night and early today like ordinary refugees, without any warning.

Say Britain Aided

The legation quarters declared bitterly that Russia had moved, aided and abetted by Britain to take advantage of German preoccupation in the west with the war with Britain.

These Germans alleged that the British ambassador to Moscow, Sir Stafford Cripps, had "pushed" Stalin into Rumania in an attempt to create a new embarrassment for Germany and to cause the reich to turn her attention away from the west.

They asserted that Germany would not be fooled by this "maneuver" at this time.

They declared openly that the reich cannot permanently permit the Soviets to dominate the mouth of the Danube and northern Bucovina because of the potential long range military danger and the possibility open to Russia to block Germany's approaches to the Black sea.

Carol Calls Parliament

King Carol issued a decree summoning the Rumanian parliament into extraordinary session tomorrow afternoon.

A government order closed all night clubs, theaters and movies and forbade music in public places for three days.

Two Iron Guard (Rumanian Nazi) leaders, Horia Sima and Ion Simonescu, were appointed to the cabinet.

Sima, chief of the Iron Guard, was made undersecretary of education and Simonescu, Iron Guard chief lieutenant, was appointed secretary of health.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 28—David S. Ingalls of Cleveland, Sen. Robert A. Taft's campaign manager, today was elected Republican national committeeman from Ohio to succeed F. F. (Dick) Taggart of Massillon. Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown of Dayton was reelected national committeewoman.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 28 — The tension of seeking the presidential nomination of native son Robert A. Taft now over, the Ohio delegation at the national Republican convention turned today to the selection of two national committee members who will serve for the next four years.

Before the delegation's meeting, there was no indication whether Ohio's present committee members—F. F. (Dick) Taggart of Massillon and Katherine Kennedy Brown of Dayton—might continue.

Obviously tired, the Buckeye contingent relaxed after the nomination of Wendell L. Willkie became evident early on the sixth ballot—and then hailed the nominee as a one-time Ohioan.

But Ohio delegates visibly were stunned by the Michigan contingent's giving 35 of its 38 votes to Willkie.

When the nomination of the New York utility executive was assured, Gov. John W. Bricker, chairman of the Ohio delegation, vainly sought recognition from the convention chairman to present a motion making Willkie's unanimous. Then he climbed atop a chair, was recognized and in-

WILLKIE CLUB FORMED HERE

Marion Co. Organization One of First in Ohio; Officers Named.

A Marion County Willkie-for-President club, one of the first in Ohio, was formed here this morning, just a few short hours after the nomination of the Republican presidential candidate at the party's convention in Philadelphia.

Some 25 Republicans of the county met in the office of Attorney French Crow, chairman of the county Republican executive committee, and perfected the organization.

Officers Elected

Mr. Crow was elected president, Walter D. Moore of Marion, assistant prosecuting attorney, was elected secretary, and C. C. Hollyday of LaRue was named treasurer.

As soon as the organization was set up, Mr. Crow called Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, convention keynoter and floor manager at the convention for Willkie, to arrange for a speaking engagement in Marion for the candidate.

Gov. Stassen said that everything possible will be done to bring Mr. Willkie here. The club is seeking a date in mid-September.

The group will hold its next meeting, a spokesman said, when word is received from Gov. Stassen concerning the Marion speech.

To Seek Members

Meanwhile, the organization will conduct a membership drive, seeking to enlist as many Willkie supporters as possible.

The club came into being more-or-less spontaneously, the spokesman said, adding that there was no one person behind its organization. It is the first Willkie group in the county and is believed to be one of the first formed in Ohio.

OREGON REPUBLICAN LEADER IN SENATE GETS SECOND PLACE

By The Associated Press

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 28—Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, U. S. senate minority floor leader, was nominated for vice president on the first ballot today by the Republican national convention.

McNary's nomination, according to unofficial tabulations, was put over when New York cast 82 of its 92 votes for him.

Reassembling to choose a vice president after the wild stampede that early today had swept Wendell L. Willkie, New York utilities magnate, into the presidential nomination, delegates heard that Willkie wanted McNary.

This fact did not, however, halt the formalities of nominating speeches for favorite sons which had been scheduled in advance.

Shortly before they met, Willkie had outlined to reporters what he regarded as the outstanding issues of the campaign. He listed them as "national unity, building an adequate national defense and rehabilitation of the national economy."

Willkie said in answer to questions:

The selection of a vice presidential nominee was "a job for the convention."

Formal notification ceremonies of nomination and the formal acceptance probably would take place at Elwood, Ind., his birthplace.

Congress should stay in session because of "the difficult international situation."

The "outstanding issues" of the forthcoming campaign would be "national unity, building an adequate national defense and rehabilitation of the national economy."

His victory was a 47-day "expression of the will of the people," and he would make a "very aggressive and widespread campaign."

He would be "delighted to see President Roosevelt" to discuss national defense," adding with a grin, "I think one should be most courteous to his predecessor."

As for offering advice to Mr. Roosevelt on financial problems—"every time I have seen the President he's done most of the talking."

(In Washington, Mr. Roosevelt had replied to a press conference question that he would be glad to talk with Willkie about foreign affairs.)

Told that his nomination was being attributed in England as a victory for the interventionists' cause, Willkie said that was incorrect.

The nominee said that he would insist that his party adhere to the provisions of the Hatch political practices act. He declared he wanted no large contributions. He said the maximum would be $5,000.

Wants Small Contributions

"I hope," he added, "that the contributions will be small and widely diffused."

It was apparent that whether he liked it or not, Willkie's campaign song had just about been picked out for him. It was "Heigh-Ho- Heigh-ho, its back to work we go," and continued: "With Wendell Willkie leading us, the jobs will grow."

The band played the refrain over and over, and printed copies of the parody on the song of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" were scattered about the hall.

Exactly 37 minutes after the session had been scheduled to start, Chairman Joseph W. Martin came down the runway to the stand and introduced Rev. Robert C. Wells of Philadelphia to pronounce the invocation.

A wild whoop went up when Martin announced that sometime this afternoon Willkie would come to the convention.

Rep. Harold Knutson of Minnesota came forward after Connecticut had yielded to Minnesota on the roll call for vice presidential nomination.

W. S. Moscrip of Lake Elmo, Minn., next nominated McNary. He said there was "some question whether we should draft him from the senate" but that "in this crisis" it was necessary.

A great cheer went up at the mention of McNary's name. The [illegible] tactician, his senate service has been marked by close association with the farm problem. For years his name was linked with the late Rep. Haugen of Iowa, in efforts to put over the familiar "McNary-Haugen" bill to control farm surpluses, a measure which President Coolidge vetoed. McNary never has given up the principle of that storm-tossed legislation.

He also was instrumental in putting through the big Bonneville and Grand Coulee power-navigation projects in the northwest, federal undertakings recommended by President Roosevelt.

Noticeably absent from Philadelphia streets today were the noisy bands which had blared under the banners of the various candidates. It was the phenomenal Willkie victory that was on every tongue.

He wrested the title from whooping delegates on the sixth ballot shortly after midnight. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, his forces badly battered, and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan had freed their supporters to join the mad rush toward the blunt-speaking New York utilities executive.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, his lines crumbling in the stampede, finally, fell before the onrush. Then the result was declared unanimous.

The 48-year-old Willkie, never before a candidate for public office, learned of his nomination in his hotel suite, crowded with enthusiastic friends.

"I am very appreciative, I'm very humble, and very pleased," he said.

Long Term Given in $1,000 Holdup of Marion Store

Robert Hollman, 32, of Battle Creek, Mich., charged with the $1,000 armed robbery of the J. C. Penney Co. store here Feb. 3, pleaded guilty before Judge Hector S. Young in common pleas court today and was sentenced to a term of from 10 to 25 years in Ohio penitentiary. Earlier this week, Hollman, indicted by the grand jury recently, pleaded not guilty.

He said he had nothing to say why sentence should not be pronounced against him and in general appeared quite calm throughout the procedings. When the judge announced the long sentence, however, Hollman wiped his eyes quickly.

He was brought to the courtroom from the county jail, handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff Gene Geissler. He will be taken to Columbus shortly to begin his sentence.

Hollman had previously served two prison terms, he told officers at the time of his arrest. He served a short time in Southern Illinois prison and seven years in Indiana State Prison, he said.

Judge Young also had before him this morning R. E. Dean of Marion, indicted on a charge of breaking and entering the Marion Recreation Center on May 11. On the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel, Judge Young suspended sentencing and placed Dean on probation for one year. The judge said he understands Dean became drunk and broke into the Recreation Center and that it was his first offense.

Carter M. Patton was attorney for Dean and William R. Martin for Hollman.

Willkie's Goal To Save Private Enterprise

By The Associated Press

Wendell Willkie, the shaggy-haired utility man who was a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat until four years ago, jumped into the Republican camp because he believed the New Dealers had gone too far.

"The preservation of private enterprise in America," he says, "is indispensable to the preservation of all other rights."

A cracker - barrel character known as one of Indiana's best poker players, Willkie calls himself a liberal; says that as a young man he formed a hatred for "abuses of big business relations with labor and the community." Today, big business has been licked, he adds, and it is "big government" and government monopolies that need licking.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, June 29

A DAY OF difficulty, doubt and discord may develop, with excitement and rash action, as portended from the predominant planetary aspects. Should there be some sudden and untoward group action, menacing safety and business progress, it would be well to refrain from strife, reckless or violent conduct.

Those whose birthday it is have before them a year in which certain perplexing, doubtful and conflicting situations may demand much personal restraint with calm consideration and management of dangerous, difficult and probably violent situations. This might arise in involvement in some sort of perilous group or mob action. Impetuous, passionate and unguarded choice of written word or speech might precipitate disagreeable entanglements.

A child born on this day, although talented in marked or unusual degree, versatile and forceful, yet may be tempestuous and intemperate in written word, act and speech, thus inviting self-defeat, unless early disciplined.

PROSPECT SERVICES SET

A congregational meeting will follow the worship service Sunday at 10:15 a. m. at St. Paul Lutheran church in Prospect. Officers of all organizations will submit reports. The Katherine Luther guild will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Clarence Kietzmann.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

By ANNE ADAMS

JACKET AND SLEEVELESS FROCK PATTERN 4485

A gay collaborator with the summer sun is this spirited suntan frock, Pattern 4485. It's designed by Anne Adams in the cool, sleeveless style that every young miss loves and its slimly pointed sunback is held neatly in place by a rounded buttoned back yoke. That curved-in-front girdle dwindles your waistline and the action-free, flaring skirt has a smart front panel. Of course the "saddle-bag" pockets are optional, but just see what a striking effect they give! To prevent sunburned shoulders, top off the frock with a matching or contrasting bolero. Gay printed pique or soft rayon jersey make inviting fabric ideas for this summer, "must have"

Pattern 4485 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16, dress, takes 3⅞ yards 35 inch fabric; bolero, ⅞ yard contrast.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Cut a smart figure in the summer fashion picture. Make your new wardrobe from the original designs in the Anne Adams Pattern Book. A colorful forecast of summer 1940, it includes styles for country and city dweller, "pocket-edition" youngster and "forty-plus" matron. There are gay sport clothes, dance frocks, cool prints and cottons for vacations by land, by sea, by air. Of course the summer bride has not been forgotten. Send today! Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents, Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Send your order to The Marion Star, Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York, N. Y.

New Superintendent Cites Schools' Problems in Talk to Kiwanis Club

E. E. Holt Sees Need for Systematic Planning and Cooperation in Training Good Citizens.

...ematic plan of education, ...financed and backed by ...lic opinion, and sympa... ...operation are the funda... ...objectives of the public ... Marion and every other ...ity in the country if they ...develop the right kind of ...ship. Supt. E. E. Holt, new ... the Marion public schools, ...Kiwanis club members yes... ...at the weekly luncheon ...g at Hotel Marion.

...port of the club to Mr. Holt ...is work as superintendent, ...d by H. L. Dowler, vice ...ent, speaking for the club, ...ndorsed in the applause of ...mbers at the conclusion of ...k, which was based on ...al objectives of education.

...aking of some things which ...made education today a ...ex problem. Mr. Holt men... ...the technological develop... ...in industry and its resulting ...ping of thinking, from the ...al executives to the lowest ...laborers, the mobility of ...lation complexions of cities ...even states, and the child ...r and school attendance laws.

Affect the Schools

...ustrial developments face ...schools with the problem of ...ating boys and girls vocation... ...in the lines they should take, ...the shifting of population ...m city to city and state to ...e has made it imperative that ...ols more closely correlate ...r programs, so that there will ...no wide gap between the pro... ...ms of schools in various sec... ...of the country, according to ... Holt.

Years ago, he pointed out, most ...gh school pupils were preparing ...r entrance into institutions of ...gher learning, but today only 15 ...18 per cent are making this ...reparation, yet the vast majority, ...who expect to go out into the ...world and earn their way as ...soon as they leave high school, ...still are in many instances using ...textbooks and materials designed ...for the pupil preparing for a col...ege or a university.

The amount of money available ...for educating boys and girls var...ies throughout the United States, ...Mr. Holt said, from the very ...highest to the very lowest. "I am ...not ready to say we should equal...ize education expenditures ...throughout the United States," he ...continued, "but I am raising the ...problem that there is such a vast ...difference of money spent for ed...ucation of children, say, in Mar...ion, and the southeast part of the ...country, that as a result we are ...bringing forth citizens measured ...by the opportunity they had in ...school and these opportunities ...vary too much."

Must Train All

"It is our job to educate all of the children of all of the people, not only in Marion but throughout the land," he declared. "If we are to develop the type of citizens this country wants and needs we must do something to remove those conditions that do not contribute to the building of a positive type of citizen.

The need for the individual touch in educating children, as important in many respects as the teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic is vital if a teacher is to leave a lasting impression, the superintendent said.

First and most fundamental objective of schools and organizations is, or ought to be, he declared, the development of the right kind of citizenship.

Speaking along this line he said: "There was a period when democracy was accepted as the ultimate as far as methods of government were concerned. We still very definitely believe in the principals of democracy and I want the boys and girls of Marion indoctrinated with it and that means they must have an individual citizenship.

"A line of defense that is equal to material defense is that line that comes from men and women, boys and girls who are the right kind of citizens and who understand and appreciate their government."

Mr. Holt said the job of educating boys and girls is not limited to the hours spent in school, but goes further, to their places of recreation. He made the statement that in Marion, although he has not had time to study the city, he would wager there were "source spots" for delinquencies and upon a direct question to Judge Oscar Gast, the juvenile judge affirmed the statement.

"We have no right to be proud of people doing the right thing unless at the same time we accept the responsibility for the education of all of the boys and all of the girls of all of the people," Mr. Holt said emphatically. "As far as we are concerned, we are doing all we can in the schools," he added.

Schools Also Responsible

Since many boys and girls do not have contacts with the Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A., the church and Sunday school, it is the obligation of the schools to assume some responsibility for giving spiritual balance to the inculcating of the proper lessons, he continued.

"If we today were sound citizens in body and mind, willing to think things through and form our own conclusion on facts we have assembled, if we were sympathetic and tolerant, my feeling is that a great many political and economic problems which harrass us today would be gone," Mr. Holt said. "We must train our boys and girls in school today in order that they come forth ready to do a better job than the one we are leaving for them."

Superintendent Holt urged that boys and girls be led into lines of training that will teach them to think things out and reach their own decisions, that they be taught tolerance.

In closing, he said that he is faced with "some pretty challenging things" along vocational education lines in the schools here, but he did not enlarge on the statement.

"As far as I am concerned, and I feel it reflects the board of education, we have no notion of coming to you, or any other group, or the community with a program and saying 'Here it is, take it' but from time to time as problems come before us we will come to you with all of the facts we have and say to you that from our study here is what we believe is the proper solution. We want you to exercise your privilege of saying what is to be done."

Second Talk Here

Superintendent Holt was introduced by Dr. F. L. Thomas, a member of the board of education and the presiding officer at the luncheon. It was the new superintendent's second talk to a Marion group, the Smart Sunday school class of Epworth Methodist church having heard him last Tuesday night.

Guests were M. M. Hisey of Columbus, John Gallagher of Toledo, Carl W. Miller of Dayton, Dave Sidle, Dr. R. T. Morgan and W. E. Orcutt of Marion.

Group singing was led by L. G. Jones, public school music supervisor, with William Dowler at the piano.

Announcement was made that because the meeting next week would come on July Fourth, the Kiwanians will join the Lions club members at their weekly luncheon next Monday at 11:45 a. m. at Hotel Harding. Don McVey, executive vice president of the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co., will be the speaker.

A force of 500 000 men, well trained and reasonably well equipped will form Britain's first line of land defense against any German troops who might elude barriers of the royal navy and the royal air force

This force includes the British expeditionary force contingents withdrawn from France—soldiers now rearmed, reformed and rested—and, it is believed Canadian, Australian and New Zealand divisions.

All these troops went back to school in the last three weeks to absorb lessons taught by the German advance in Flanders and France

Behind this force is a whole citizen army of another 500,000 men most of whom were called to the colors since the war began. It, too has had the benefit of training in new tactics.

The final reserve of manpower at hand is the body of local defense volunteers numbering around 500 000

These part-time soldiers, armed with rifles and bayonets, are organized primarily to combat parachute troops landing behind the lines and are not to be used at the front unless casualties necessitate

She Helps Jokes Live

By ROBBIN COONS

Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Mildred Meiers has heard this one. She's heard them all. And—she's written a book about them.

Yet she still likes jokes.

"But my perverted sense of humor gets me into trouble," says the sparkling, blue-eyed redhead who is a secretary in Joe Pasternak's office on the Universal lot. "Especially with men. Men want to be taken seriously, and I'm always laughing at them."

Miss Meiers, assisted by Jack Knapp is author of "Thesaurus of Humor" a compilation of basic jokes and gags with many of their variations. It's a best-seller among books of its type and there's an unusual success story behind it.

Miss Meiers from Toledo, Iowa worked briefly as a movie extra and as secretary in local law offices before becoming assistant to J. P. Medbury, the comedy writer who was then producing a series of gag travelogues. They'd run conventional travel shots then think of gags to apply in commentary. After a while, Miss Meiers began compiling a gag library. Then she sold copies of her library for $500 apiece—finding a good market among screen and radio scribes.

Again a secretary she started her thesaurus using her library as a basis. Collecting the material required three years arranging it took seven months of night and-day work

It Takes Nerve

Then she submitted it to publishers 25 of them. All ejected it though in a complimentary way. So she published it herself in bound mimeographed form. She sold 75 copies of this at $10 a throw and then went to New York to see the publishers in person. The first one she showed it to—one who had not rejected it before—bought it.

I've already collected 4 000 items toward a new book—if I ever get up the nerve to tackle another. Oh yes I can still laugh which I suppose makes me nuts. But if a joke is funny at all it's always funny if its appropriate to the occasion even if you've heard it before.'

The most common basic joke Miss Meiers thinks is the one beginning "Who was that lady I seen you with last night?"

A good gag writer she says is one with the ability to put a new switch on an old gag. Every joke has to have a serious foundation—approached from a screwy angle.

Along with her secretarial work Miss Meiers is writing S. Z. Sakall the continental comedian in English for his role with Deanna Durbin in Spring Parade

MILDRED MEIERS

New Taxes For Defense Set To Start on July 1

Defense taxes just imposed by act of congress effective Monday July 1, require immediate action by dealers in cigarets and liquors and operators of places of amusement, it is announced by Harry F. Busey, collector of internal revenue, at Columbus today

Preparatory to paying floor taxes liquor dealers must prepare an inventory of their stocks on hand as of the opening of business July 1. All cigaret dealers must do likewise

The floor tax on cigarets is at the rate of 25 cents per 1 000 cigarets. The blank form which the dealer will use in filing this return will be available at the office of the collector of internal revenue and offices of zone deputy collectors. The printed forms however will not be ready for distribution until some time during July

The inventories to be made by retail and wholesale liquor dealers are required so that the floor stocks tax return can be made in payment of additional tax of 75 cents per proof gallon. The rate of tax on distilled spirits generally has been increased from $2.25 to $3 per proof gallon

The new revenue law has increased the tax on beer from $5 to $6 per barrel. All brewers and wholesale dealers are required to take an inventory of stock on hand at the beginning of business on July 1 1940, so that they may file the return and pay the additional tax of $1 per barrel

Retail dealers in beer are not subject to the floor stocks tax. A retail dealer is liable for floor stocks tax if he maintains a stock outside of the premises on which beer is sold. Beer in transit is subject to the floor stocks tax

There is no floor stocks tax on wine

On admissions tax the new revenue law effective July 1 1940 reduced the exemption from 40 to 20 cents. Any charge of admission of 21 cents or more is subject to tax. The tax on the charge of 21 cents amounts to 3 cents at the rate of 1 cent on each 10 cents fraction.

On a charge of 25 cents, the tax is also 3 cents.

On 30 cents charge, the tax is 3 cents.

On 35 cents charge, the tax is 4 cents.

Nap Lajoie Speaks Up for Baseball Helmets

By The Associated Press

...TOR-ON-THE-LAKE, O., ...—Napoleon (Larry) La... of baseball's immortals, ...s seldom-heard voice to... agitation for headgear to ... batters from whizzing ...balls."

... and erect at 64, Lajoie ... up from the lawnmower ... pushing around his peace... summer home and opined: ...s better to wear a helmet ... be carried away on a ...tcher."

... baseball fans still argue ... he or Eddie Collins was ... best second baseman in the game's long history. Lajoie lives ... near-seclusion at his white ... home on the Lake Erie ..., 25 miles east of Cleveland.

Takes It Easy

From May through October he ... with the neighbors, puffing ... at a tooth-marked pipe, and works around his two-acre ... and flower garden. In the winters, he and Mrs. Lajoie rent ... at Lake Worth, Fla.

"They ought to be able to make something to stop the ball from ... everybody, especially for ... baseball," he declared.

If you got in front of a fast ... like Bob Feller throws under the lights, it would be too bad. It's bad enough when you get hit ... the back, but it looks like head ... are increasing."

Lajoie declared a helmet shouldn't interfere with anyone's batting average and he should ..., since he hit above .300 for ... big league years before he retired in 1916.

NAP LAJOIE

"Some batters seem glued to the plate," he said with a reminiscent eye.

Hit Only Once

"I remember being beaned only once—Rube Waddell threw me a curve when I was looking for a fast ball and it glanced off my head. But Frank Chance was hit so many times, 17 or 19 I think it was, that he finally became hard of hearing."

Not to change the subject, but what about the skidding New York Yankees?

"They're not out yet," was his answer. "I think they'll be right up there." And that from a man who once managed the Cleveland Indians, now leading the American league and seeking their second pennant in 20 years.

CHAMP STILL LEADS OHIO AMATEUR FIELD

Golfers Enter Back Stretch of Annual Tourney.

By The Associated Press

SHAKER HEIGHTS COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, June 28 — The qualifying field cut in half, Ohio's simon-pure golfers entered the "back stretch" of their 37th statewide tournament today with eyes glued on a short-money favorite out in front and hopes pinned on "long-shot" surprises.

Thirty-one competitors trailed the modest defending champion, Dayton's Bobby Servis, who easily settled all doubts yesterday that his low-qualifying 70 was not just a speedy 100-yard-dash in the four-day marathon.

As the group started another 18-hole round to pare its number to 16, Robert Campbell of Granville renewed his challenge of a Servis one-man show. Sixteen years old and "baby" of the tournament, he took the measure of Eddie Reubusch of Cincinnati, 4 and 3, while the Daytonian was dropping a less formidable opponent, Melvin Sulser of Columbus with a par-blistering 8 and 7.

Campbell, son of a professional, played heady golf in advancing to the second round and a knowing group of galleryites immediately marked his well-rounded game as one to "keep an eye on." He met Harold Wilburn of Akron in today's morning play.

Servis teed off against John Lorms of Columbus. Sixteen matches were scheduled during the morning and eight in the afternoon, reducing the field to eight.

Shovel Blanks Defiance Team, Strengthens Lead

The undefeated Marion Steam Shovel squad kept a comfortable lead over the other teams in the Industrial league by defeating the Defiance Pressed Steel squad last night at Garfield park. Huber moved into a tie for second place by virtue of a win over Union Bakery and Osgood nosed out the Young Democrats in the only other game played.

The shovel makers won their fifth straight game as they blanked the cellar dwellers from Defiance, 7-0, behind the two-hit performance of Pitcher Green. The winners collected 10 base blows off of losing pitcher Stinson.

Osgood came out on top of a 2-1 score in a thrilling 12-inning game with the Young Democrats at Lincoln park. Osgood paved the way in the fourth with one run, only to have the Democrats tie it up in the sixth. From there on it was scoreless ball until Osgood managed to push a lone marker across in the twelfth frame. Osgood players committed three errors in the field, but with Harry Moak pitching four-hit ball and bearing down in the pinches, they were able to win their second game of the year. The Democrats dropped into a second-place tie with Huber.

Huber swamped the Union Bakery, 13-0, at the Shovel grounds. Armbruster held the losers to six hits as his teammates ran wild to collect 11 safeties and score in every inning except two. Union Bakery is now in a tie for last place with Defiance.

The formula by which George Wiedemann brewed fine beer for his neighborhood seventy years ago still controls the production of Wiedemann's fine beer. FORD'S PLANT AT RIVER ROUGE—VITAL DEFENSE KEY

Vast Ford plant at River Rouge, Mich., pictured above, now looms as a vital defense key in the mass production of airplanes, motors and other war mechanisms in line with the defense program planned for the United States. Ford officials claim they could turn out 1,000 plane motors a day.

NAZIS SAY TREATY OF VERSAILLES DEAD

Today Is 21st Anniversary of Signing of Pact.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, June 28 — German newspapers called attention to the 21st anniversary today of what they called the "criminal treaty" of Versailles.

Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter commented that, with much of France occupied, the rest under German surveillance and England facing the German war machine alone, "Versailles is dead."

For the first time in weeks, German sources admitted that British raiding planes had managed to bomb a military objective in Germany.

DNB, official German news agency, reported that two British bombers blasted oil tanks at Hanover yesterday, started fires and wounded several persons.

The Germans said one of the invading planes was destroyed. In addition to five machines previously shot down in an attempt to fly across The Netherlands.

A short wave broadcast, directed toward England, warned civilians there not to resist German soldiers if they invade the British isles. The broadcast declared international conventions provide that civilian fighters may be regarded as "snipers"—subject to summary execution — and that homes from which shots are fired may be burned.

WILLKIE'S GOAL

blasted the state's case with one sentence:

"I am sure my son will be a great lawyer because he can make so much out of nothing."

Just Missed Congress

Willkie enlisted in the first World war the day the United States declared war, became a captain and served overseas. Back home he met a girl named Edith Wilk and wasted no time changing it to Willkie. They have one son, Philip, a Princeton student, recently voted "most likely to succeed."

Coming within an ace of running for congress, he took a job with an Akron rubber company instead. Later he was a successful corporation lawyer, and in 1924 was delegate to the Democratic convention.

Struck by Willkie's work, B. C. Cobb of Commonwealth Power Corp. summoned him to New York to help assemble Commonwealth and Southern Corp. When Cobb's health failed he backed Willkie for the presidency of the firm.

It was as president of Commonwealth and Southern that Willkie gained national fame by fighting the administration taking over company property for TVA. Finally, the SEC arbitrated the dispute, setting a price for the company's holdings and Willkie sold out at a good figure.

The Willkies live simply for people in their position. Usually they vacation in Indiana where they have 1,500 acres of farmland. Willkie puts on old clothes then and chins with the farmers. At home in the Willkie apartment are thousands of books. And he can tell you what's in most of them.

LEGION PROPOSES HOME DEFENSE ARMY

Groups Would Be Organized in Every City.

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, June 28—A nationwide civilian army, unarmed but otherwise completely militarized, was proposed today by American Legion officials who disclosed detailed plans had been drawn to organize battalions in every city.

Units organized and drilled according to army regulations would be formed under American Legion auspices, and be staffed by officers from the Legion's ranks. Citizens from 18 years of age up would be eligible "recruits" in the army outlined as an aid to the national defense.

The program was submitted to the national executive committee after being laid before army, navy and government officials, and was disclosed here after Maryland Legionnaires objected to it, some assailing it as "fascistic," and "dangerous" as it might create a potentional "bund" organization.

The Legion's national commander, Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, said at Norfolk, Va., that announcement of the proposal was a "breach of faith."

"The national executive committee has not had time to consider the proposal," he said.

Russia's Demands Look Like Defense Against Germany

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Russia's successful ultimatum to Rumania demanding sweeping concessions which include cession of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina is to my mind largely a strategic defensive move against Germany in particular and the axis partners in general.

The thunder from the unimpeded charge of the great German war machine across Europe is beginning to rattle the windows of Moscow's Kremlin.

The Bolshevist action has sent sparks showering about the open Balkan powder keg.

If the Muscovites don't encounter any snag in carrying out this sudden maneuver which fu ther scrambles the already unrecognizable map of Europe the Reds not only will acquire fresh territory but secure a large degree of control over this important Balkan state which Hitler had staked out for himself.

Nazis Are Silent

The Berlin attitude that Germany's disinterested under such conditions can be dismissed as just another way of saying that Nazidom doesn't want to talk. Equally unsatisfactory is the idea that the Bolshevists are acting with the approval of Germany.

Herr Hitler isn't likely to abandon his role lamb in such fashion. If he appears to acquiesce it is because forsooth there is very little else he can do about it in view of his commitment to perform the considerable task of dismembering the British empire.

Moreover the fuehrer can't afford to have a war started in the Balkans because he is depending greatly on this area to feed his people in case the conquest of England gives him trouble.

No I don't believe the Nazi fuehrer has invited any such arrangement. Stalin has just beat him to the draw that's all.

Hitler's Earlier Ideas

You will recall that after Hitler smashed Czechoslovakia it was reported he was fostering a movement to join into one nation all the Ukrainians including those in Russia.

Recently it has been reported that the fuehrer was reviving this idea. Whether this be so or not if Stalin has Bessarabia and northern Bucovina he will have eliminated the chance of Hitler getting a toe hold on the Russian Ukraine through these territories.

It is only 20 years ago that I was presented to King Carol's father and mother—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie—in London where they were being congratulated on Rumania's acquisitions of territory as the result of the World war. Over night their little country had become great. Crown Prince Carol was heir to a wonderful heritage. Now a score of years later he sits among the ruins.

WINDSOR'S QUICK ACTION SAVES DUCHESS IN CRASH

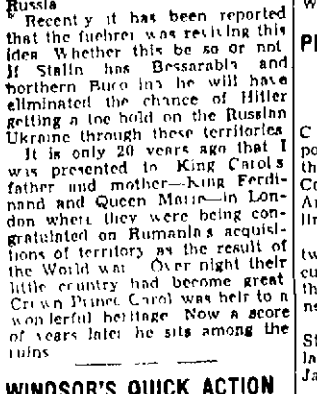

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK June 28—The Duke of Windsor's quick action in grasping his duchess dress and holding her in their car when it crashed into a bridge in Spain saved her from possible injury a National Broadcasting company reporter said today from Rome.

The Duke and Duchess in Spain after fleeing from France were enroute to Portugal yesterday when the accident occurred. The impact of the crash sprung open the car door and nearly pitched the duchess into a river.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND June — Five CIO pickets and two Lakewood policemen today were injured at the gates of the Precision Castings Co as the pickets defied Mayor Amos I Kauffman's proclamation limiting picketing.

All seven were injured when two automobiles with four occupants sped from the street into the plant through a crowd of nearly 100 pickets.

THREE WPA WORKERS REFUSE LOYALTY PLEDGE

"No matter if we were advancing they (the Salvation Army) were there with hot coffee hot chocolate and doughnuts according to Mr Hurley who was wounded in overseas service in the first World war. Shells were bursting all around them many times. We were under fire because we had to be but the Army workers were there voluntarily, right with us through the thick of the fighting and they were with us when we needed a cheery word something warm to drink and the feeling that some one was going right along with us no matter where it took them.

A veteran of the Spanish American war and Mexican border service T F Kinnear who was regimental supply sergeant 1st Division Ammunition Train A E F in the World war said soldiers overseas never asked the Army for anything that was not given them. He said that at times the officers and soldiers would try to prevail on the Army workers to go back behind the lines and away from the heaving shellfire but they persisted in carrying on their work among the soldiers at the front. He praised the Army's constant supply of hot coffee or hot chocolate for the men.

According to cables from Army officers in Europe the Army has lost tremendous sums in relief equipment in the present war. On one day alone Sunday June 9 the Army fed 7 000 men women and children at the Gare de Lest station in Paris. Only one Salvationist Mrs Brigadier Herbert Climpson has been killed. Struck by a splinter from a bomb shell she died instantly and was buried in an open soldiers grave in the cemetery outside Dieppe France.

All Salvation Army buildings in England are now occupied by injured soldiers and war refugees according to word received by Capt Rothwell Stickley head of the Marion corps. Under these conditions only outdoor religious services can be conducted.

Those in charge of the drive here pointed out that with the drop in the value of English currency money given Saturday will go much farther towards rehabilitating the Army abroad.

CONVENTION

national defense and restoring national unity.

For a time it had been thought he might come to the convention to address the delegates. The galleries roared for him after his nomination just as they had during the last two days. Time and again Chairman Joseph W Martin threatened to have the 12 000 visitors ousted.

One by one Willkie bowled over his favorites in the early balloting. Then his drive went into the camps of the men who three weeks ago had been counted to win the nomination.

First Dewey's lines began to tremble and crack. Dewey released his delegates on the fifth ballot and there was a drive for Taft with the supporters of Herbert Hoover riding in the push. But it failed.

The thousands in the galleries hoarse from hours of shouting we want Willkie took up the chant again. Delegations that hesitated or turned against Willkie were booed then cheered to a rafter-shaking echo when they turned back to him.

Wins Middle of Sixth

Willkie's nomination went over in the middle of the sixth roll call of the longest nominating fight the Republicans have had since Warren G Harding was named in 1920. One by one as the lines tightened a delegate sought to move a recess. But Chairman Martin drove them ahead.

Pennsylvania had a chance to become the key delegation to turn the nomination to Willkie. Its big delegation of 72 men and women had been giving the majority of their support to Gov Arthur James but with a split that so far'd more votes to Willkie on each ballot.

When the state was reached on the sixth roll call Willkie had 448 delegates. The Pennsylvania delegation voted solidly would have put him across the line. But the delegation was outside in a caucus and David Reed of Pennsylvania the former senator passed.

Eight more states were called and each piled up more votes for the New Yorker. After Virginia had heaped more upon the total it stood at 489 for Willkie with the race squarely between him and Taft—and the senator slipping fast.

At this point the Pennsylvania delegation filed back into the hall. Reed leaped up to report that his state wanted to cast its vote. The 72 votes were dumped upon the Willkie bandwagon. Then Washington threw on 10 more.

Gov John W Bricker of Ohio sought after the delegates began to fall away from Taft to make Willkie's nomination unanimous.

Tall clad in a white suit his silvery hair gleaming he strode to the platform. But Martin insisted that the roll call be completed to the last poll of protesting delegations. For half an hour or more after the issue had been decided the roll all went ahead while state after state changed its vote to record itself unanimously for Willkie.

When 998 of the 1 000 delegates—there were two absentees—had been recorded for the new candidate Martin allowed the motion for unanimity to be put. It was carried with an echoing roar of ayes.

A telegram from Herbert Hoover to Willkie congratulating him was read. Mr Hoover had been in Philadelphia and his lieutenants had plugged hopefully for his nomination. But it was not to be. He gathered 17 votes on the first ballot 21 on the second 32 on the third dropped to 31 on the fourth and his delegates dwindled to 20 on the fifth.

Galleries Roar for Willkie

That final climactic scene was one such as few conventions see. The end of the fifth ballot and the spectacular gain Willkie had made in it set the galleries to roaring. Tier upon tier up the steeply banked walls jamming every aisle the visitors screamed down to the convention to nominate Willkie.

Word had spread that Mr Hoover had sent word to his friends in the California delegation to swing to Taft. California voted 26 for Taft 17 for Willkie but in a poll four Hoover votes were weaned from Taft.

As the roll call went ahead, women shrieked with each new Willkie gain. But Ohio held tightly to Taft.

As the delegates streamed out of the hall Alf M Landon the 1936 nominee who had turned his Kansas delegation to Willkie two ballots before the nomination, was saying:

The political principles of Mr Willkie are very much in line with mine.

"I believe he got the nomination free of any commitments or promises that will in any way hamper him in making a splendid vigorous, competent chief executive."

CONGRATULATIONS!

Losers Send Best Wishes To Victor Willkie

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA June 28 — (Friday)—Other Republican candidates and party leaders sent their congratulations to the nominee Wendell L Willkie early today as follows:

SENATOR ROBERT A TAFT — Hearty congratulations. You may count on my sincere and strenuous assistance in restoring to this country a government based on reason common sense and business principles.

THOMAS E DEWEY— I congratulate you on your nomination as the Republican candidate for president and I pledge you my full support in the fight ahead.

HERBERT HOOVER— My congratulations. The result of a free convention in which people will carry you to victory.

OHIOANS

voted to the last form.

Bricker's first motion for a solid Willkie vote was declined because Ohio still was being called. He remained on the platform under the glaring television lights until the roll call was completed and then his motion was adopted.

David S Ingalis of Cleveland Taft manager thanked delegates for their support of the senator.

"It was a grand fight" he said and I'm sure all Taft people will be behind the candidacy of the next president."

First Ballot Casts Doubt

Taft supporters became gravely doubtful of his success after the first Harmon ballot. On that Taft polled 189 against an anticipated vote of at least 250 but the group subsequently was encouraged by the sharp rise in his votes after the third ballot.

Failing to bring about Taft's nomination Ohioans were quick to claim Willkie along with Indiana his home state and New York. The nominee practiced law for a time in Akron.

When he left the rubber city to go to New York in 1929 he was a Democrat.

Having served overseas during the World war he became interested in veterans affairs after joining the legal department of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co in 1919. He later became commander of Summit post of the American Legion at Akron and also was active in Democratic politics.

Akron veterans best recollection of the nominee. The only man who ever was elected to two terms as commander of the Legion post.

BALKANS

struggle between Britain and the Nazi-Fascist axis powers was marked by new German air raids over the British isles and the torpedo sinking of a deeply laden 8 000 ton German transport by a British submarine off the south coast of Norway.

The incident though comparatively minor in itself may have disclosed one of the first clues of the scene chosen by Hitler for his heralded invasion of England.

If the German transport was a troop ship laden with soldiers enroute to Norway it may indicate that the Nazi fuehrer has decided on the conquered Scandinavian kingdom as a springboard for his assault.

A few minutes before a Soviet ultimatum expired yesterday King Carol agreed to give up Bessarabia northern Bucovina and rights in important Black sea ports.

There were indications that the axis partners gave silent consent to dismemberment of the country.

Others Want Share

Rumania's neighbors clamored that their claims too must be heeded. Hungary wants Rumania's large western province of Transylvania. Bulgaria claims southern Dobruja.

Turkey sent warships into the Black sea. Yugoslavia reinforced the guard on her Italian border.

In the war in the west German bombers raided Britain for the seventh time in 10 days ranging from southeast England to southeast Scotland. The British government said there was no serious damage and very slight casualties.

Today is a double anniversary for embattled Europe.

Twenty six years ago Gavrilo Princip fired the shots that touched off the World war through the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife 21 years ago Germany acceded to the treaty of Versailles ending that war.

Treaty 'Now Dead'

Berlin papers took note of the latter anniversary to comment that that treaty is now dead.

England's powerful Conservative party pledged continued whole-hearted support of former Prime Minister Chamberlain and the government's determination to fight to victory.

The party vigorously denied suggestions that Chamberlain might head a surrender cabinet to talk terms with Hitler.

Equally firmly German sources denied other reports that Germany has made a sensational peace offer to leave Britain's empire untouched but require internationalization of Gibraltar and the Suez canal.

German troops raised the Nazi Swastika on the French side of the Spanish frontier at Hendaye, competing the Atlantic coast occupation provided in the armistice with France.

MRS TAFT GOOD TROUPER AS HUSBAND IS DEFEATED

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA June 28—Mrs Robert A. Taft stayed the good trouper straight through the vote that defeated her senator-husband for the Republican presidential nomination.

All through the last gruelling hours of balloting she sat at her husband's elbow helping to ebullate the announcements.

As news of the nomination came blaring over the radio she walked into an adjoining lounge room with her husband to greet friends with the same warm smile she has shown all week.

It was a good fight she said. "After all it is a good thing for the family the way it turned out."

Just back of her stood her youngest son Horace 15. He whispered "she's wonderful."

CAMPAIGN

partisan. He soon found he wasn't. He resigned.

Through the spring months work for Willkie moved forward on an increasing scale and then says Davenport came quite a turning point one which took Willkie out of the dark horse category and put him on a popular basis.

Root Organized Youth

Oren Root Jr resigned from the law firm with which he was affiliated and opened up an office. Root is only 27 and a political tyro. But he rallied a large group of enthusiastic young college men and they went to work with vigor to show up accepted ways of handling a campaign.

Root might be described as a cheer leader something like a sales manager out to spur his force into doubling its sales.

Willkie clubs sprang up and grew to between five and six hundred in number. His opponents said so much activity couldn't be spontaneous but it obviously was synthetic with hidden sources for money. The Willkie supporters were emphatic that such wasn't the case.

"Why" says Davenport "at one time I had to demand that some of the Hollywood minded boys who had no actual connection with us but wanted to have call off their fund raising plans."

That was when I got my title. "I'm the man who has Willkie's confidence. You see we had to have some way of persuading people to stop doing things they shouldn't. But I'm not Mr Willkie's manager."

There is no way of determining how much money was spent for Willkie. He personally has insisted several times that there be no effort to raise funds no formal campaign. And right up to convention time he was without that usually essential person—a campaign manager.

Davenport, a week or so before the convention thought that maybe $30 000 had been spent including about $3 000 of his own money.

OHIO COUNTS EIGHT FATAL ACCIDENTS

Drownings Take Four, Three at Cincinnati.

By The Associated Press

Eight fatalities—four of them caused by drownings — boosted Ohio's accidental death toll today.

An outing ended tragically as a small boat capsized in the Ohio river yesterday drowning two Cincinnati women and a girl. The victims: Mrs. Joan Flowers, 29, her sister in law, Mrs. Katherine Flowers, 19, and a girl tentatively identified as Eleanor Weiss, 13.

A life saving squad revived Edward Flowers, 22, Katherine's husband. The couple's four month old daughter was saved by Edward's brother, Ronald, 31, Joan's husband.

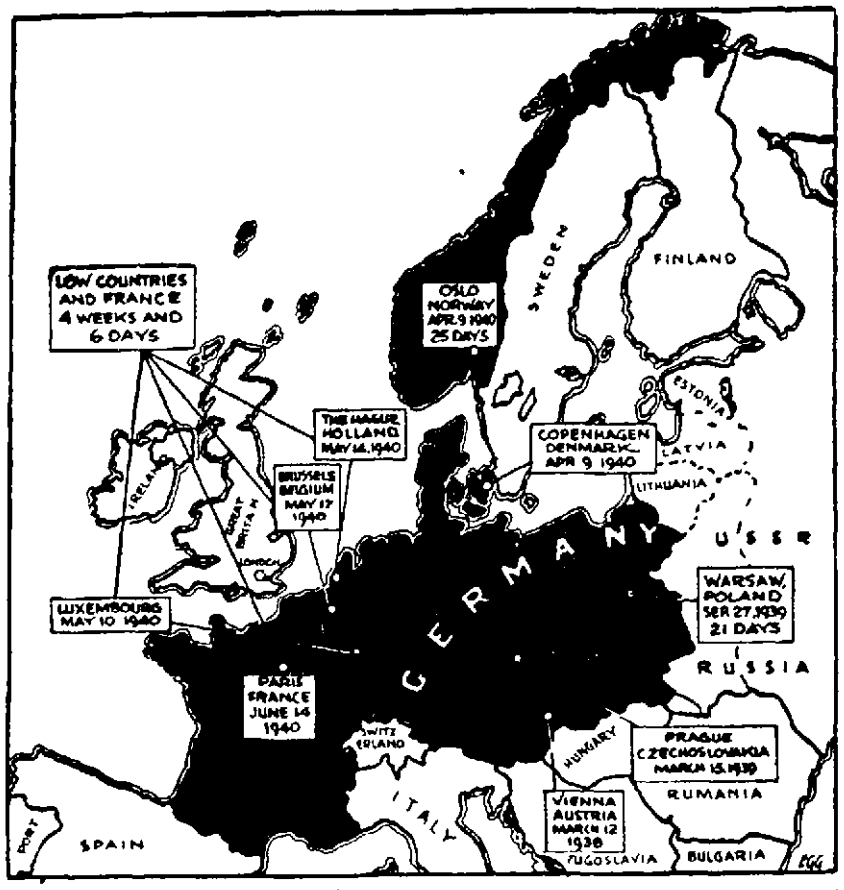

The body of Neal H. Egbert, 65, meat cutter was found in the Ohio canal at Akron.

A railroad switch engine struck and killed John L. Brewer, 46, freight conductor at Cleveland. Police said an unidentified man whose body was found along New York Central railroad tracks apparently was the victim of an other Cleveland train accident.

Robert Jacobs, 12, was killed as his bicycle and an automobile collided three miles north of Massillon.

A fall from a hay wagon killed Carl Wolf, 42, at a farm near Fremont.

German Refugee at Upper Sandusky Getting Accustomed to U. S. Ways

Request To Change Name Brings Short-Lived Suspicion of Fifth Column Activities.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 28—My fight is against the present government in Germany, says Rudolph Horwitz, 23, of Berlin, a Jewish refugee from the land of the Nazi. Horwitz who came to this county just before Hitler invaded Norway has been temporarily employed at the Old Mission farm here but will leave Saturday for Rochester, New York.

Young Horwitz seems to be a brilliant youth and speaks the English he has learned excellently although with a noticable German accent. His Nordic accent and the fact he must stop to study the right word to use at times got him into trouble here.

He was applying for a driver's license which he intended to use for identification only since he doesn't have a car. In making his application he stated that he was changing his name to Ralph F. Hagen and immediately he was placed under suspicion.

Cleared of Suspicion

Local and county officials here questioned him but it was definitely determined that the young man was in no way connected with fifth column activities of which he had been unjustly suspected. He explained that he was changing his name because he found people couldn't understand him when he told them his real name. He was under the impression he could use the new name immediately but was advised that he must wait for a court order during his naturalization.

Horwitz is a native of Berlin and is the son of a banker his father, Leonhold Horwitz having died in England five months ago. His mother is still in London awaiting passage to America. Young Horwitz left Germany for Holland in July 1938 and then resided for eights months in England before coming to America. He expects to leave Saturday for Rochester, N. Y. where he will serve as counsellor in a summer camp.

He states that everyone in Holland believed the low country by flooding the lowlands and with the use of splendid fortifications would check the Germans. In England he reports everyone thought the war in continental Europe would last at least two years, with eventual victory for the Allies.

Listens To Convention

Horwitz expressed much interest in the American form of government and for the past several nights has been listening in on the Republican party convention over the radio. He said that, In Germany the e is no opposition party. In England the opposition leader is paid by the king but in America it is all so different. Here there is no restraint.

Horwitz carefully avoids any unnecessary mention of home and labor conditions in Germany but believes that the standard of living in America is not much advanced over that of Europe.

Here you have such things as porch swings and other pieces of furniture in which here is little beauty. In a few years, you throw them away and buy new ones. But in Europe, the people believe in beauty and age things that are artistic."

Mentions U. S. "Extras"

Here he continues "you have many extras such as automobile joy rides, movies, refrigerators and other things which you believe are necessities. In Europe very few people have these and very seldom think of them."

Horwitz who studied agriculture in England stated that European countries have much the same purebred livestock and much the same crops as here but labor conditions are different. In England an 80-acre farm requires and must support as many as 17 hired hands. Twenty dollars a month there is considered good farm wages.

Parents—don't neglect having youngster's eyes examined

Many parents unknowingly "cheat" their children of happiness in later life simply because they fail to have their youngsters' eyes examined regularly while they are small.

Watch your child when he or she reads; seek the reason for low grades at school. If your youngster has frequent headaches, consult your doctor at once.

Faulty vision may be the cause of many irregularities of conduct as well as health—and even very slight eye defects become aggravated if neglected.

Frequently announcements of reliable opticians appear in our advertising columns. Read their advertisements and have one of these specialists examine your child's eyes.

An examination obligates you in no way—and you will know the truth. You owe this protection to your child. Seek the advice and counsel of an optician at the earliest opportunity.

Doctor Spends 27 Years Collecting 10,000 Records in Music Library

The Associated Press

...MBUS, O June 27— ...seven years ago an Ohio ...rose specialist cranked ...nograph listened to newly ...recordings and decided to ...a music Library

...ecision gave the middle ...ne of its finest collections ...ded music—a 10,000 disc ...which the owner Dr ...Mytinger of Chillicothe ...to Capital university ...ors of music

...Mytinger was faithful to ...bby during an era in which ...graphs were almost for...

100 Caruso Records

...hen Young America's craze ...ing brought the phonograph ...with improved recordings ...better machines, the needle-...melodies Dr Mytinger had ...ed away were sought as rare ...es

Dr Mytinger has more than 100 recordings of Enrico Caruso's voice several by Bernice Pasqual American soprano a few by Tetrazzini and a duet from "Manon Lescaut" sung by Cicolini and Caprile which once belonged to Cicolini

He values highly one of three existing recordings of Edouard De Reske singing Verdi's "Infelice" and Tschaikowsky's "Don Juan Serenade" It was made for him from master discs kept by the recording company

A composer's interpretation of his own work has special appeal for Dr Mytinger One such record is a piano solo, "Norwegion Bridal Procession" by Edward Grieg transcribed electrically from a 30-year-old piano roll

On others Claude DeBussy accompanies Mary Garden singing his songs, and Victor Herbert plays his own cello selections.

The Chillicothe doctor began his music with light opera and English language lyrics. As his tastes broadened his library enlarged to include 38 complete symphonies and music representing 25 countries.

He compiled a scrap book containing a brief history of the records and biographies of artists and composers

Twice a year he adds to the collection making a trip to New York for the purpose

Tennis Elbow

Tennis is one of the least dangerous sports, although I believe curiously enough it ranks ahead of skiing in number and seriousness of injuries sustained I don't understand this about skiing because I have seen about a zillion skiers take off in the movies and I don't see how skiing can be the safest of all sports but that is what the statisticians say

Tennis, however, takes its toll in the way of sprains, sometimes broken bones and at least one occupational hazard

The occupational hazard of tennis players is tennis elbow Tennis elbow is a pain on the outside of the arm just above the elbow A Boston surgeon has described this condition in his own ... Underneath the spot that hurts you can feel a small outgrowth of bone The Boston doctor thought that he had chipped his off but the X-ray showed that it was perfectly normal

The ... thing to do is to try ... and go on playing tennis It is really due to an inflammation of a small bursa underneath one of the muscles in the forearm which rides over the el... Sometimes the bursa ... removed surgically Heat ... and strapping with adhesive plaster and sometimes even putting on a plaster cast, is necessary

Sprains in playing tennis are common enough. Sprains should not be treated too seriously if they are really sprains. In other words, the first thing to do with a sprain is to be sure that it is a sprain and not a fractured bone This, of course, can be decided by the X-ray so an X-ray picture is the first treatment of sprain A sprain is only a torn or stretched ligament

Tennis had something to do with our modern treatment of sprains because some years ago an English doctor found that his young patients who disobeyed his orders and went on playing tennis got well of their sprains faster than those who were kept in bed for six weeks, so the general idea now is to rest a sprain for a day or two, strap it firmly with adhesive tape and encourage motion and action

The motor of a new light airplane can be started with a crank by a man standing at one side out of reach of the propeller

Ice cream that carries its sundae sauce inside each brick has been invented by a New York man.

Felicia's Shopping

HE WAS just leaving Field... ...ne Inn," continued the ..., "where he had dinner ...he saw a man walking ...e road and stopped to ...now far it was to Fort ...gan. The man said 10 miles, ...hat he was going there him... ...so Henry told him to get in ...mately he didn't get a ...t look at the fellow's face— ...had on a soft hat pulled down ...r eyes and he didn't have ... to say. Henry described ...as a small man, short and ...e slender. They had covered ...t nine miles when he pulled ...ch and, a few minutes later ...ced Henry to turn onto the ...ond back of the post."

"They ought to be able to trace ...car,' Gerald said reflectively. "Or they've found that I had ...t just before noon—it was ...ppened about 20 miles from ...e between here and Chicago. It had been well driven, too—you see, the car was bought new in Chicago yesterday and driven directly here, so the troopers knew just what the mileage reading should be, and it was almost exactly 20 miles short of three times what it should have been, if you follow me. In other words, the car could have been driven to Chicago from here, then back to the place where it was abandoned."

Felicia looked thoughtful. "Any clues in the car?"

"None. The luggage was gone—it was empty as when he bought it, and there wasn't a fingerprint in the car not even Henry's. It must have been gone over carefully and wiped clean by the thief. Probably used it to pull some very unsavory job in Chicago last night." The colonel's face darkened. "If it's one of my men I'll get him if it takes until Christmas."

Gerald leaned forward and looked at the older man in some surprise.

"What makes you think it's one of your men, sir? Surely that doesn't follow?"

"Only because this incident so closely resembles one that preceded it, one which we have good reason to believe involved someone on the post."

He went on to tell them of the affair of the taxicab, which I had heard from Adam that morning.

"The presence of that regimental insignia in the cab is rather good proof," he concluded.

"Pleasant thought," observed Felicia brightly. "A gangster right on the post with us. Immerman, that's the second dessert you've brought Miss Cornish, and with all deference to her taste and her figure, I can't believe she wants two helpings of bread pudding."

"I wondered if I was seeing things," I murmured as Immerman's agitated hand removed the second dessert.

But Gerald was still pursuing the subject.

"And you say sir, that the taxi driver was also—er, divested of his clothing? What a beastly criminal! You'd think one might be left a garment or so, what? I mean to say—at least his boots. Man is so helpless in bare feet."

"Probably the idea exactly," said Adam. "Wonder they weren't put permanently out of the way."

"That's so, too. Can't have been very desperate, eh? Just in a hurry." Gerald paused a serious gleam in the gray eyes. "I say, sir, did they get away with all the poor chaplain's belongings—uniforms and all?"

"Everything. He was in civilian clothes, but he had a small trunk full of his uniforms and accouterments in the back of the car. Even a full outfit of the new blues—darned expensive, I can tell you. And of course they can't be sold for a fraction of their cost—pure vandalism."

The fringed gray eyes were dreamy.

'Too Attractive'

"Must ask when I can see him. Bit of business, what? Boots, belts. Must see what I can do for him?"

Mrs. Bridewell pushed back her chair.

"Bit of business for me, too," she remarked tartly, giving the Englishman a withering glance of which he seemed happily unconscious. "I'm a good shopper if I do say it, and he sounds helpless."

She rose, put down her napkin.

"Boots and belts, indeed!" she said scornfully. "What he needs is shirts and shorts and I'm the one to see that he gets them with what money he has left."

Five minutes later, having officiated with her charming smile at Colonel Pennant's leave-taking, she turned her back on the rest of us who had dropped lazily into easy chairs on the veranda and, her spike heels tap-tapping across the polished floor of the lounge made for the guest wing. She was not a tall woman, but her slenderness and the slim perfection of her navy-blue slacks and shirt made her appear so. Her hair, which she wore always in sculptured ringlets, was uniformly grey, but looking at her now, at the taut smoothness of her bare arms and the spring of her step, I doubted if she was forty.

To my considerable annoyance Gerald Beaufort sprang to his feet and pursued her after only the most perfunctory excuse.

"Too bad," said Adam, eyeing me sympathetically. "Losing the old grip."

"You mind your own business."

"Very pretty. Girlish flush."

"And don't be a fool. But I say again what I've said before that Felicia Bridewell is altogether too attractive a woman to be hostess for a crowd of bachelors. It's—why it's—"

"Go on, say it," urged Adam grinning. "I've heard you on the subject—"

And together we chanted—

"It's downright unfair!"

Adam had gone back to duty and I have retired to my rooms with every intention of doing some work when I discovered that I was out of cigarettes. I do my heaviest smoking when I am at work and, like most writers I can seize on the smallest excuse to postpone the final, evil moment of facing a blank sheet of paper.

Insignias

I almost collided with Felicia Bridewell in the corridor. She was dressed for the city and carrying a suit box, and for a moment I thought she was annoyed to see me. But the annoyance proved to be for her errand.

"They've sent me the wrong girdle. They were having a big sale of them yesterday at Marshall Field's, and I'm afraid the kind I want will be sold out, so I have to go back."

"I should go into Chicago and collect some unfinished manuscripts," I said, pursuing another excuse for idleness. "I didn't expect to have time to work when I came."

"I'll let you know when I go again," she promised. "I've got to call up a friend tonight and I may be late getting back."

I said, "O.K. Drop me at the Post Exchange, will you?"

She gave me the box to hold while she unlocked her cell of the long garage behind the club and backed out her Ford coupe.

"Do you mind just keeping that on your lap?" she suggested as I climbed in. "The lock of the luggage compartment sticks—that's another thing I have to see about today. I don't know why I don't just move into Chicago and commute out there." She hesitated. "There's that poor soul of a chaplain, too, without any clothes. Suppose I ought to offer to get him some panties, at least. Wonder what size he wears?"

She stopped in front of the Post Exchange and I got out.

"I believe I'll stop by the hospital," she said. "There was a wicked gleam in her eye. "It will be worth it just to see his face. Perfectly strange female popping in and demanding to know what size shorts he wears."

With little persuasion I would have rejoined her in the car, but she waved her hand in casual farewell, said, "I'll tell you about it," and the little car shot away from the curb.

There was only one clerk in sight in the salesroom and he was waiting on a soldier. I drifted over that way. There was a tray full of assorted metal insignias on the counter between them. In his hand the soldier held a little pin formed in the shape of sabers crossed below the number of the regiment.

"A pair of these," he was saying. "I gave a couple to my girl. You know what suckers women are for this stuff."

I laid a dollar bill and a quarter on the counter and asked for a carton of cigarettes. The clerk turned reached a practiced hand to the shelf, and suddenly the trayful of insignia was scattered all over the floor. The soldier knelt down with his back to me and began to collect them with fumbling fingers but it was not until I was nearly home that I realized why that had seemed a familiar sight.

The soldier was Immerman, the waiter at the club. Immerman was still on my mind as I combed my hair up on top of my head and put on a long-skirted organdie dress. Adam must have come in late from duty, for he had not stopped in for a cigarette and a chat as he sometimes did.

I went into the lounge early, hoping for a word with him alone, but he and Gerald Beaufort were together in the bar waxing friendly over cocktails. I declined their invitation to join them and settled myself on the veranda with a magazine hoping Adam would join me presently. For some reason which I could not explain, I was reluctant to tell of that incident at the Post Exchange in front of Gerald.

Tigers Gain on Cleveland as Newsom Edges Brown

Tribe Idle in League Play but Bows to Brewers in Exhibition Game.

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, June 28—The Cleveland Indians idled today between an exhibition and the three-game series with the White Sox starting tomorrow at Chicago

Unawed by Cleveland s American league leadership the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association trounced the Tribe 6 to 3 under the lights last night And it was a former tribesman Paul Sull van who grabbed the credit lim t ng the Redskins to four hits in the last f ve innings

Milwaukee got only three hits and one run off pitcher Johnny Humphries in five frames Then lanky M ke Naym ck made three wild pitches and yielded four hits enabling the Brewers to score three runs in two innings Bill Zuber taking over for Cleveland in the e ghth contributed t o more wild pitches

Ray Mack led the batting with three singles

VERSATILE PLAYER

Harold Newhouser likely looking Tiger rookie doesn t limit his playing ability to baseball He also can play the piano and violin cook and make beds

By The Associated Press

B g P Sr Showboat Newsom of the De o t Tigers one of the poisonous pe s na i y h ts of the hundering thirties n the major leagues, is a fellow who will tell you t s better to be lucky than good anyt me

Newsom hasn t been beaten since the season s opening game w th the St Louis Browns and last night he checked off his tenth ctor n 2-1 a v g inst those same St Louis B owns

Old Showboat who won 20 games n bo h 1938 and 1939 and probably w ll repeat easily enough th s year hasn t had any snap maintaining his p esent winning streak That s why he knows that good breaks have helped a lot al ng the way

In two of his victories he was knocked out of the box before Detr it won In two other games he as ba ed out and Detroit lost with at has being charged with the defeat But the fates were never w th h m any more strongly than last night in St Louis

Newsom p tched a capable game scattering se en hits and striking out six This performance was shaded how ever by Bob Harris and Bill Trotter who held the powerful Tigers to exactly th ee hits

The difference was simply that two of Detro t s hits were home runs by Charley Gehringer and Hank Geenberg narrowing the gap on the idle Cleveland Indians to two games

Another three hitter last night was Hal Schumacher s performance against the Phillies to give the New York Giants a 7-0 shutout

Lance Hal is another fellow who knows the value of luck in baseball The Giants supplied him with 15 safeties last night

In the only other action in the major leagues yesterday the Brooklyn Dodgers edged out the Chicago Cubs 5 4 in a tight game in which each team got n ne hits

The victory brought Brooklyn within a game of the first place Cincinnati Reds with the Giants hot behind

Will Internal Fuss Kill Tribe's Title Chance?

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Sports Editor

NEW YORK — If the Cleveland Indians were to go on to the American league pennant this season the triumph would provide an ther of the paradoxes which so often crop up in sports Baseball essentially a team game has pr duced few teams to compare with Cleveland for dissension and la k of organization during recent years and when they call Cleveland the graveyard of managers it is for good reason However the past performances of the club have been a mere warmup for ant s during the current campaign when Oscar Vitt doesn t know from one moment to the next whether he is still manager or fired by his own men They sometimes are a little slow in letting him know how they are running the club

Baseball players as a breed are notoriously selfish thoughtless unreasonable and conniving but somehow Cleveland seems to get more than its share of the grief with the result that potential pennant-winners always have faltered leaving for the fans that annual hangover of wait until next year But every year has been like the last The Indians have built up good strong clubs only to be l gged down by the nonsense W le they have finished out of the first division only once since 1929 they still haven t been able to get as high as second o er that stretch

What about this year? The New York Yankees who started in a slump then came on for awhile, are back in the doldrums again and it may be that the race will be w ged by the Indians the Boston Red Sox and the Detroit Tigers That will make for a good interesting scramble but the Indians won t have a chance against the other two clubs—leaving the Yanks out of it for the time be ng—unless Vitt can regain the author y he seemed to lose when h s men petitioned his replacement

In the midst of V s diff cul les w h his poor abused re calc trants everybody wondered what John McGraw possibly the mo t fiery and vengeful of all managers would ha e done under the ci cumstances The answer to that of course is ob ious But the point is he ne er had any such diff culties because he was in command at all times and he didn t give his players a chance to start an upris ng And why go back to McGraw anyhow The same parallel can be drawn by p cking out Joe Cron n of the Red Sox Joe McCarthy of the Yankees Bill Terry of the Giants or any number of other The players at least know who is boss In Cleveland there seems to be a little uncer a nty on that score and in this most recent instance the players went to Owner Alva Bradley over Vit s head Would that make Bradley boss?

One surprising th ng about the Cleveland situation is that the Indians are playing better ball since the strike than they did before That could lead to settlement of differences all around and to the Indians winn ng the r first pennant since 1920 If they do it will have been done the extremely hard way and not under cond tions that would be recommended by the copy books It would seem to prove tha a club doesn t need a manager after all

Hall Booked for Second Ti at LaRance's Title Mon

Ohioan Opines He Can Beat Canadian This Weaver and Talaber Paired.

Stacey Hall popular Columbus junior heavyweight will get another shot at Speedy LaRance Canadian claimant to the world s crown in next Monday s featured wrestling match

They ll renew hostilities with a vengeance since their duel this week came near ending in a riot LaRance s ungentlemanly tactics all added up to irking the cash customers They voiced their disapproval and at the close of the match poured into the ring to trade punches with the hard boiled Canuck

Hall although the fair haired boy as far as the crowd was concerned was kept pretty much behind the eight-ball He was the target for a bone crunching arm grip that kept his left wing almost useless He also was blasted frequently by LaRance when they were ordered to break

Held His Own

All in all however Stacey did a pretty good job keeping up with the Canadian warrior He s of the opinion that with a the en break he can lick LaRance title claim and fans here would like nothing more than to see the Ohioan take his foe for a one-way ride Their match is scheduled for 90 minutes with two falls to win

Buck Weaver of Terre Haute Ind tackles Frankie Talaber of Chicago Ill in the 45 minute semi final It is Weaver s second trip here in the last year He renewed acquaintance with Marion fans by coming here this week to whip Ned Taylor of Louisville Ky Buck resorted to his usual convincing style of ring mastery to stop the Kentuckian He gets a tougher foe in facing Talaber Talaber is a clean cut ringster who has looked particularly good in his few starts here He probably will pack a slight weight advantage but that won t cut any ice with the Hoosier Buck seemingly likes 'em b tough He has earned a tion of being something tamer of grapplers with m positions

Coming up in the pre will be the scheduled 20 meeting of Texan Jimmy and Ned Taylor of Lo They ll go to bat at 8 30 the curtain on the show

Wrestling promoters ag nounced they are making move the show outdoor far they haven t been stage any in the open air of the inclement weathe good weather the scene o will be the Uncapher aven door arena otherwise the Shovel gymnasium

Big Paul Faces Cubs Tonight

Derringer To Oppose Jake Mooty as Reds Seek To Improve Situation.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 28 — A people s choice World Series ticket might easily include the Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians Both teams are ahead in the race to get their names on the ballot

The Rhinelanders were still a game and a half in front in the three-way National league scuffle as they faced the Cubs here tonight and the Indians held a little better margin with their successful scalping in the American circuit

Rhinelanders hoped Paul Derringer s jinx over the Cubs would hold for his tenth victory as he dueled Jake Mooty on the mound for the Windy City crew

Mooty has hurled four victories the Rhinelanders went through without a defeat for Chicago and stiff batting maneuvers at Crosley field yesterday to prepare for him and improve their poor hitting

The Reds had four games another Saturday and a twin bill Sunday scheduled in their home stand with Chicago

The Cincinnati club was reinforced by return of Ival Goodman to uniform after undergoing treatment in Philadelphia for a pulled tendon in his right arm

Mike McCormick probably will remain in right field for several days however club officials said, but Goodman will be available as a pinch hitter

LEADING ISSUES PUSH AHEAD

Traders Apparently Encouraged by Nomination of Willkie by G. O. P.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 28—Leading stocks with utilities in front, bounded up 1 to more than 4 points in today's market as many traders apparently were heartened by the nomination of Wendell L. Willkie as the Republican presidential standard bearer. The European war served to restrain bullish sentiment.

Power and light company bonds exhibited strength. Most commodities were higher although wheat futures slipped after early improvement. "Free" sterling was lower following yesterday's sharp rally.

Commonwealth & Southern common, the corporation headed by Willkie, started on a block of 75,000 shares, up 1/8 at 1 3/8.

Prominent on the forward swing were North American, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Public Service of N. J., U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Dow Chemical and U. S. Rubber.

EARLY WHEAT GAIN TURNED INTO LOSS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 28—After an early advance of almost a cent wheat prices today turned lower and registered the lowest close since last Sept. 1, the day the European war began.

Initial strength was borrowed from the stock market which reflected trade sentiment regarding the Willkie nomination but later selling pressure increased in connection with larger wheat marketings in the southwest, favorable weather and the uncertain international situation.

Wheat dropped as much as 1 1/8 cents below the previous close at one stage but closed only [illegible] cent down, July 70 1/8, September 70 1/2-[illegible]; corn was [illegible] higher, July 61 [illegible], September 58 [illegible], oats [illegible] off to [illegible] up.
